This week, we, as Revolusys company members, have attended the Engineering Design I seminar on Wednesday. This seminar was about the fundamentals of design process. Also we met with course lecturers, Elif Vural and Emre Özkan. On Thursday, we have met with our project coordinator, Mr. Özkan. We were informed about the tasks and processes of the course. After this meeting, we established communication groups in social platforms of Whatsapp and Google. We also joined to Github and established a Github project to get benefit of its version control. By the help of Github, we will categorize files, codes, documents and ideas uploaded by the group members in different folders.
